Broken and non-compliant fire door needed replacing

The housekeeping cupboard door at Mabbs Hall had broken hinges and the wood had cracked around the edges, leaving the door hanging off. It was so broken that employees had to hold the door in place in order to open and close it.

Angel Ibyan, Mabbs Hall's Manager, asked the maintenance team to fix it temporarily but she knew it needed to be replaced as soon as possible to keep up with compliance, so started requesting quotes.

Fire doors will only protect your building if they're compliant.

“ I was pleased with the communication throughout the whole process and with the service we received. Plus, our cupboard door is now compliant again. If I had to give Fireco a rating out of 5, I would give you 10 stars!

Fireco provides a professional service at a competitive price

Angel reached out to a few local companies who either didn't get back to her or gave unreasonable quotes. When she spoke to her head office about the problem, they had already used Fireco in the past and were happy to continue business. Angel explained that "Fireco's lead times were quicker and the quote was very competitive.
